The Voice of Your Customer is Recruiting Small Business Construction Owners for a Research Project Regarding Occupational Safety and Health

The Voice of Your Customer is currently recruiting small construction business owners in the Greater Cincinnati and Northern Kentucky Areas to participate in a very important research study for the National Institute for Occupational Safety and Health (NIOSH).

Small construction business owners will participate in a one-hour structured interview to discuss occupational safety and health training activities and needs within their company and the industry. Specifically, we need small construction business owners who have been in business for at least one year, a minimum of one employee or contractor, and no more than about 10 employees.

The interview will be held during the months of November and December. Small construction business owners will be required to complete a brief pre-screening telephone conversation. Participants who complete the survey will receive $150 as a token of appreciation.

To register, please contact Crystal Kendrick via telephone at (513) 281-3228 or via email at crystal@thevoiceofyourcustomer.com.

Please feel free to share this information with your family, friends and colleagues.
